

Subject: Final Deadlines – 2011 IAABD-CANADA CALL FOR PAPERS

Dear IAABD Members, Colleagues, and Friends:

I hope you're doing well.

I wish to take this opportunity to remind you that the February 28, 2011 paper submission deadline for 2011 IAABD-Canada Annual International Conference is fast approaching. HURRY! HURRY!!

The 2011 IAABD will be held in Edmonton, Canada from May 17-20, 2011 (University of Athabasca, – HOST). The conference theme is xxx. The program will include scholarly (refereed and abstract papers) presentations, IAABD Round Table, doctoral dissertation and research symposium, and special sessions on African business and development.

A number of ways to get involved include submitting your scholarly work for consideration, submitting special session proposals, or volunteering to serve as a session chair, discussion leader, or reviewer. While the premier focus of the conference is African business and development, there will be time for relaxation, entertainment, and meeting with old and new friends - African style. You will never be disappointed. Because IAABD and its past hosts and sponsors for the past 11 years have never let conference attendees down. If Edmonton, Canada 2011 will be your first time to attend IAABD Annual International Conference, you will never ever stop attending future conferences.

Please visit the IAABD website at www.iaabd.org for the detailed call for papers and Journal of African Business special issues.

IT'S ALL ABOUT IAABD.

Cheers,

Chris

---

Chris I. Enyinda, Ph.D., Ph.D.
IAABD President
Professor and Coordinator of Logistics/Supply Chain Management and International Business Programs
Department of Management and Marketing, School of Business
Alabama A & M University
Normal, AL 35762
256-372-5610
chris.enyinda@aamu.edu